

Squirrel hair brushes

Since stiff hairs can damage papillary ridges, these brushes are made from a type of very soft hairs, commonly known as squirrel hair. They can be used with any non-magnetic powder, of any colour. Available in three variations. Each brush is supplied in a clear plastic tube to assist storage and avoid damage to bristles.

Small round head squirrel hair brush

Marabou feather brush

This brush has white feathers, which work particularly well when dusting with fluorescent powders, although work with standard powders as well. The soft feathers prevent damage to even fragile prints.

Each brush is supplied in a clear plastic tube to assist storage and avoid damage to feathers.

200mm total length including handle, 75mm brush length.

Code: 06-0020 £12.00 + VAT

Fibreglass brush

This brush is designed to spin, twirl and evenly sweep fingerprint powder over the desired surface. The grooved plastic handle allows the user to have a good grip on the brush for this technique. Glass fibres provide softness to prevent damage to prints, and also hold the correct amount of powder to distribute evenly, resulting in fewer trips to the powder jar and less waste. Suitable for use with standard powders or any colour, although it is recommended that a separate brush is used for each colour of powder.

Each brush is supplied in a clear plastic tube to assist storage and avoid damage to fibres.

170mm total length including handle, 55mm brush length.

Standard magnetic powder wand

The wand has a magnetic stem, allowing magnetic powder to be collected and brushed over the desired surface. The magnet can then be released by extending the spring-loaded handle, in order to drop the powder after use. The outer casing is plastic to allow for easy cleaning; therefore the wand can be used with a variety of different colours of magnetic powder.

150mm total length.

Code: 06-0022 £22.00 + VAT
